It will Repay you to Read and Practice th -Whether green manurial crops add fertility or not to the soil the fact remains that by green manuring and the use of lime there is an increase of humns. Mulch or shade of any kind promotes the formation of humus, and thus the land is made capable of retaining more moisture and of bastening chemical pro-

All lands have been improved whenever green manuring has been re —Not a bushel of corn should be turn ed into pork without knowing whether it will bring as much money as though it had been sold at the warehouse, says a writer. It is not easy for the average farmer to determine just what it costs him to "feed off" his drove of hogs. It would be often better to sell them off t the prosessional feeder at this stage Lack of profit usually lies in slow development at the early stage, or in the final cost of fattening. -The use of broad tires on roads is subject that should releive attention Instead of cutting up the road a broad tire serves as a roller, and packs and smooths the road. It is not necessary to have heavy wheels because they are broad. In this age of steel broad wheel may combine strength, lightness and efficiency, and their use would save the roads and also permit of drawing heavier —The sheep is the best paying animal

At the agricultural experiment stathat we know of for investigation by the tion of Maine State College observations covering the period of growth of four years have shown that the excess of noisture in forest above that of open field averages 10 per cent. reaching 14 per cent. in the middle of the day. The excess would undoubtedly be greater in a very dense forest. The presence of patches of forest in any region exerts a marked influence on the hydroscopic conditions of the atmosphere, and this ondition, in turn is an important factor in the growth of vegetation.

-White clover is too short and small to be available for hay making, but we good for the digestion, good for the know of no plant that makes a better or more enduring pasture. CURE FOR PEACH YELLOWS.

A Brooklyn Man Thinks He Has Found It.

New York, July 22.—John H. Dunell, of Brooklyn, writes as follows to the Sun: "In your issue of last Sunday I noticed a communication from Hartford, Conn., about the 'yellows' on peach trees, its universal prevalence throughmoney refunded, is the "Favorite Prescription." about to be taken to extirpate or guard against the evil. I had long believed that the 'yellows' was simply the result of an impoverished soil, and I am now more than ever convinced of it. Let "I had a peach tree in my yard which had borne the previous year a very heavy crop of peaches, so heavy, indeed, that the troubles caused by Catarrh, the makers of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy will be pay you $500 if they can't give you apermanent curs. They take the risk! after blossoming in the spring the tree developed 'yellows.' I had the ground a round the tree all dug over, and gave i a liberal dressing of barnyard manure. During the following month the tree pu on a healthy appearance and the 'yellows' peaches which it bore were much in proved in flavor and were larger though not so abundant as the year before,

Does Farming Pay?

The query is a very common one, and is discussed every day, and it is very seldom we hear two individuals give the same answer. Farming may be made a success or a failure, at the option of the omist. If the farmer concentrates all of his energy, studies his business, lays his Organ and other lostraments. On receipt of 15 cents we send you by return mail an Elegan than no solar paint and paint follows and plans before commencing his crop and works to them, he certainly will be remunerated for all his extra pains and must clor voice and plans. We have learned that to be farmer one must farm in winter as well as summer. He certainly can not wait till planting time before making any pre parations for a crop and make a succe f farming. As with any other occupation one must stay with the farm to make it pay, and not only stay with it but give it his undivided attention. A man can not be a book, fruit trees patent churn agent and a farmer and make a success of both (we may say, either). In these times of agricultura lepression, of financial stringency, of high-priced money and low-priced labor, it does seem that farming is not paying a very large per cent. for the capital and paying even a moderate per cent; Although the present may look rather as a profession, and fully believe that healthful and most independent pursuit that men ever engaged in.
